MESSAGE FROM THE MINISTER AND DEPUTY MINISTER

On behalf of the Department of Community Services, we are pleased to present the department's 2009-2010 Business Plan.

In the Business Plan you will see that we are still moving forward on the commitments of the previous government - we are already halfway through the fiscal year and tied to the existing budget.

In 2009-2010, the income assistance personal allowance rates will be increased by $6 and the income thresholds under the Nova Scotia Child Benefit will also be increased. Higher income thresholds mean more families will be able to access these supports. The Employment Support and Income Assistance redesign will examine ways to further assist Nova Scotians and families with low incomes.

We are continuing to work with our federal, municipal and community partners to meet the housing needs of low income Nova Scotians. Over the next two years, the Province is investing more than $100 million in an extension of the Affordable Housing Program to create or preserve homes for families, seniors and persons with disabilities and to renovate the Province's social housing portfolio and make them more energy efficient.

Government is committed to improving life for Nova Scotian families. Over $46 million will be spent in Early Childhood Development and Early Learning and Child Care this year to make child care more accessible and affordable for Nova Scotian families.

Public's investment in services and supports for persons with disabilities has grown significantly over the past five years. To ensure that the services currently in place are working on behalf of those who need our help today, the department will examine the outcomes of the current program to ensure the appropriate monitoring protocols and processes are in place.

The priorities contained in this report are in addition to the services provided on a daily basis to over 90,000 Nova Scotians that the department helps each year.

Regards,

Denise Peterson-Rafuse
Minister, Department of Community Services

Judith F. Ferguson
Deputy Minister, Department of Community Services

1.0 MANDATE/MISSION

The primary responsibility of the Department of Community Services is to ensure the basic needs of individuals and families are met by protecting children and adults at risk, and by providing financial support to persons in need. Most of the department's expenditures are in the form of direct payments to clients in need of financial assistance or to service providers who provide residential, vocational, child care, housing, protection and other social services on behalf of the department. These services form a secure and predictable social safety net for Nova Scotians and help contribute to better futures for children and families, persons with disabilities, seniors, and communities.

Mission

The Department of Community Services is committed to a sustainable social support system that promotes the independence, self-reliance, and security of the people we serve...achieved through excellence in service delivery, leadership, and collaboration with our partners.

2.0 STRATEGIC GOALS

The department has six strategic goals to which all core business areas and corporate support services contribute:

- To strengthen the capacity of individuals and families to participate in their communities, achieve their full potential, and assume responsibility for addressing their own needs.
- To build and maintain a well managed, capable, responsive and sustainable social service system.
- To create an integrated, client focused, quality service delivery system.
- To strengthen service provider relationships and leverage opportunities for collaboration.
- To develop and demonstrate leadership in the continuous pursuit of excellence.
- To foster a competent and committed workforce through appreciation and support for individuals and teamwork.

3.0 PLANNING CONTEXT

The social service system is the safety net for Nova Scotians in times of need. In order to properly plan for the future needs of Nova Scotians, the department recognizes and takes into account several key factors that can significantly influence the demand for social services and the government's ability to respond. Many of these factors are beyond the direct control of the department, yet they affect the performance of the social service system. The following are some of the key opportunities and challenges that will influence the department's work in the coming year.

3.1 OPPORTUNITIES

Integrated Labour Market

Over the past year, the Province has been working with the Government of Canada to create a more comprehensive and coordinated approach to labour market programs and services. As a result of this work, a new Labour Market Agreement that fully integrates federal and provincial investments was developed. This agreement gives the Province the ability to develop programs and services for the unemployed and low-skilled workers to improve their employability. Community Services' clients can benefit from these programs. The Labour Market Agreement provides approximately $14 million in federal funds in each of the next five years.

Housing Investment

The Nova Scotia Housing Development Corporation, to secure funding to support the Province's housing objectives, has agreed to take part in the renewal of housing programs offered by the Federal government in Budget 2009. The combination of federal and provincial funds will result in a total funding envelope of $133 million, the most significant investment in housing in decades. Over the course of the next two years, these funds will be used to rejuvenate and green Nova Scotia's public housing stock, create additional housing for seniors, persons with disabilities, and affordable housing options for low-income Nova Scotians, as well as enable government to continue with the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program.

Poverty Reduction Strategy

The Poverty Reduction Strategy, released in April 2009, is a whole-of-government framework to help address the needs of our low-income population by creating opportunities to participate in the prosperity of the province. The strategy will serve as the catalyst to direct and focus the collective efforts of government, its partners and stakeholders over the course of the next decade. It will become the 'lens' through which programs and initiatives are identified, reviewed and designed, and provide a way to better integrate and coordinate programs and services. To ensure efforts are responsive to the changing needs of citizens, progress will be measured and reported, and communities engaged to find realistic and sustainable solutions.

Child and Youth Strategy

Our Kids are Worth It— is an example of what can be accomplished by working together toward a common goal. A collaborative initiative of the departments of Community Services, Health, Education, Health Promotion and Protection, Justice, together with a variety of community agencies, the strategy brings forward a number of opportunities to better coordinate government programs and services and improve the way we serve children, youth-at-risk, and vulnerable families.

3.2 CHALLENGES

Economic Uncertainty

The slowing of the global economy will be reflected in the province's economic performance, as economic forecasts for 2009 range from a modest increase of 0.7% to a decrease of 0.2%.¹ Since provincial economic growth had been one of the factors contributing to caseload reductions in the Employment Support and Income Assistance program, the decrease in economic performance may lead to an increase in caseload.

Income Assistance Caseloads

Since 2000, the Income Assistance caseload has been declining as a result of an improving economy. There are signs that this rate of decrease is slowing. Some other provinces are beginning to report an increase in income assistance caseloads. As income assistance is a significant portion of the department's budget, any change in caseload trends would have significant expenditure implications.

Low Income Population

Although the percentage of Nova Scotians living in low income situations (LICO; after tax) is at its lowest of the past decade, 8.4% of the population, there are still 76,000 Nova Scotians of which 16,000 are children, living in low income. An economic downturn could result in increased low income numbers and pressure on the social support network.

Increasing Complexity of Need

The needs of people accessing the department's programs are becoming increasingly complex. This is evident in child welfare programs, programs for persons with disabilities, and clients of the Employment Support and Income Assistance program. The needs of these populations pose a challenge to existing interventions, service systems, policies, and legislation.

Aging Population

Nova Scotia's population is aging. In 2008, people aged 65 or older represented approximately 15.4% of the population. The Nova Scotia population of seniors is expected to increase by over 80% within the next 20 years.² As it does, the demand for existing and new services and supports will increase; and with an aging population it is likely that the incidence of disability will also increase, putting additional pressures on the social service system.

Ageing Housing Stock & Infrastructure

In Nova Scotia, 12.1% (43,800) of households are in core housing need,¹ meaning those houses fall below adequacy, suitability or affordability standards and the households lack the income to access acceptable housing. In addition, service providers throughout the province are experiencing increasing difficulties keeping pace with maintenance and repairs of aging buildings.

Department's Aging Workforce

Community Services, like many other departments of government, has an aging workforce. Over two-thirds of the department's employees are over the age of 40; approximately 22% will be eligible to retire within the next five years.

4.0 PRIORITIES & PERFORMANCE MEASURES

Core business areas are collections of individual programs whose results and outcomes are fundamental to meeting the department's strategic goals and carrying out its mandate. The department has four core business areas:

- Employment Support and Income Assistance
- Housing
- Housing Authorities and Property Operations
- Family and Community Support

Below is a brief description of each core business area, the major priorities to be completed in 2009-2010 and measures of the department's performance. More information on the department's programs and services can be found on the department's website, <http://www.gov.ns.ca/coms/>.

4.1 EMPLOYMENT SUPPORT AND INCOME ASSISTANCE

The focus of the Employment Support and Income Assistance (ESIA) core business area is to provide financial assistance for persons in need and to facilitate their movement towards employment, independence and self-sufficiency. Supports include:

- financial assistance for basic needs and special needs
- training and employability supports
- prescription drug coverage for income assistance recipients and children of low income families
- employment assistance for persons with disabilities
- children's benefits for low income families.

4.1.1 2009-2010 PRIORITIES

Government is committed to making life better and more affordable for Nova Scotians. Consistent with this direction, the department will be pursuing a number of priorities to support those most in need of our help.

Priority: Preventing Poverty. Promoting Prosperity, Nova Scotia's Poverty Reduction Strategy

In April 2009, the department released a long term whole-of-government poverty strategy outlining strategies and actions to alleviate, reduce and prevent poverty. The strategy is designed to coordinate current and future efforts to address the needs of our low income population, serving as the lens through which programs and initiatives will be reviewed and developed.⁴

In 2009-2010, building on our existing social infrastructure, government will:

- increase the income thresholds available under the Nova Scotia Child Benefit (NSCB). This will have an immediate and positive impact on Nova Scotian families with children. Higher income thresholds mean more families will be able to access these supports.
- increase income thresholds for the Low-Income Pharmacare Program for Children
- increase the monthly basic personal allowance for eligible income assistance recipients
- begin the redesign of the ESIA program, moving forward in a way that is meaningful for people living in poverty and sustainable for taxpayers. This project will look at ways to better support those clients with work-limiting disabilities, focus on removing barriers that prevent people from achieving independence, strengthen the way clients' needs are assessed, and improve the quality of ESIA services the department provides.
- invest $3.5 million in subsidized child care through our Early Learning and Child Care Plan to reduce the amount low-income parents have to pay and create more subsidized spaces in licensed centres and Family Home day cares.
- develop a suite of measures to enable government to track progress and to allow for strategies to be responsive to changing conditions.

⁴For the purpose of business planning, this priority is included in the ESIA core business area. However, it must be noted that accountability for the results of the strategy are shared by government, not solely Community Services, or the ESIA program.

4.1.2 PERFORMANCE MEASURES

The focus of ESIA is to provide assistance for those in need, and to enable individuals and families to work towards self-sufficiency. As indicated in the following table, several interrelated performance measures are used to help track progress toward this outcome.

4.2.1 2009-2010 PRIORITIES

In 2009-2010, for Nova Scotia's low income families, the department will improve access to adequate and affordable housing.

Priority: Increase and Preserve the Supply of Affordable Housing

In 2009-2010 the department will strategically invest the housing funding, secured by the Nova Scotia Housing Development Corporation in partnership with Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation to ensure the best use of public funds in providing housing solutions to our clients. Initiatives include:

- additional investment in Affordable Housing Programs to create or preserve housing units
- renovation and energy retrofit of cooperative and non-profit housing projects
- new investment to construct additional seniors units and provide housing for individuals with disabilities,
- renewal of the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program, assisting approximately 800 households in 2009-2010.

Priority: Property Tax Rebate

In 2009-2010, the Seniors Property Tax Rebate Program will be enhanced. The Property Tax Rebate for seniors living in their homes will be increased from $400 to $600.

Priority: Review of Housing Repair/Adaptation Programs

Community Services assists approximately 2,400 households with home repair and adaptations programs annually through various housing programs. In 2009-2010, the department will complete a review of the programs' regulations, policies, and procedures with the goal of maximizing opportunities to streamline program delivery while at the same time delivering a consistent, effective, and efficient program.

4.2.2 PERFORMANCE MEASURES

The following measures track the department's performance in the provision of a range of safe, appropriate, affordable and sustainable housing options for Nova Scotians in need.

4.3 HOUSING AUTHORITIES AND PROPERTY OPERATIONS

This core business area provides direction and support to the department and the Nova Scotia Housing Development Corporation in the planning and management of their properties (approximately 11,300 public housing units) and other residential facilities owned by the department. Core support functions include:

- asset management (e.g., property management support, real property, lease management and risk coordination)
- technical services (e.g., design, specification and standards, and building project services).

4.3.1 2009-2010 Priorities

Priority: Maintain and Sustain the Public Housing Portfolio - Capital Asset Management Plan

The Nova Scotia Housing Development Corporation has been successful in securing funding from our federal partners to support the rejuvenation and greening of the province's public housing stock. With these funds, the department will improve the efficiency and accessibility of our existing social housing ensuring our housing stock is in good condition.

The vitality and sustainability of our public housing portfolio is an important concern. In 2008, Community Services completed a long term capital works plan. In 2009-2010, the department will update the plan, this work will involve:

- coordinating building condition surveys for the housing portfolio
- updating the building component condition and capital works plan database
- developing an annual report based on 2008-2009 work.

Priority: Greening Plan

The department will complete the development and begin implementation of a Greening Plan aimed at reducing energy consumption and greenhouse gas emissions for public housing portfolio, approximately 11,300 units. The strategy will identify several short, medium and long term initiatives.

Priority: Aging in Place Plan

The department will develop and begin implementation of an Aging in Place Plan that includes physical improvements to seniors public housing that assists residents to live independently. Work in 2009-2010 to develop the strategy will include:

- identifying potential aging in place features for seniors properties (e.g. elevators, powered door operators, ramps, corridor handrails)
- developing an inventory of existing building features facilitating aging in place
- developing criteria to prioritize the implementation of each enhancement

- costing the implementation of the strategy
- implementing improvements where possible as part of the investment to renovate and retrofit social housing.

Priority: Generator Installation Plan

The safety of senior residents in public housing is an important concern. Community Services will be enhancing existing emergency plans for each seniors’ apartment building by examining opportunities to install either permanent or portable generators. The plan will be completed in 2009-2010 and will involve:

- identifying potential electrical services to be maintained during a power outage (e.g. heating, lighting, elevators, emergency systems)
- identifying criteria for temporary power solutions (e.g. portable versus fixed generators; fuel type)
- developing an inventory of existing electrical power generators
- developing criteria to prioritize the installation of generators
- costing the implementation of the strategy
- implementing improvements where possible as part of the investment to renovate and retrofit social housing.

Priority: Radon Testing and Mitigation Program

In 2007, Health Canada lowered the guideline for acceptable levels of radon gas in dwellings. The department developed a plan and completed the first phase of the radon testing program for public housing in May 2008, with the second phase of testing completed in the Spring 2009.

In 2009-2010, the department will complete the final phase of testing. In instances where radon levels exceed Health Canada guidelines, mitigation will be completed within time-frames set out the Health Canada protocol for radon remediation.

4.3.2 PERFORMANCE MEASURES

Performance measures for this new core business area will be developed in 2009-2010.

4.4 FAMILY AND COMMUNITY SUPPORTS

This core business area focuses on the provision of safe and nurturing environments for children and youth to enable them to develop to their full potential. The presence of, and opportunity for, positive, supportive experiences in the early years in the home, the care environment, and the neighbourhood can promote optimal outcomes in a child’s development including educational, linguistic, social, emotional, behavioural, and physical domains.

In addition, to support people at various stages of their development and independence a range of services for children and adults with an intellectual disability, a long-term mental illness, a physical disability, or some combination of the three disabilities are also available. Services are purchased on behalf of eligible clients from a network of organizations across the province.

The range of programs and services delivered by the is core business area includes:

- adoption and foster care programs
- child protection services
- support for children in care
- secure care
- early childhood development programs
- prevention services
- youth services and supports
- Child and Youth Strategy - Our Kids Are Worth It
- services for persons with disabilities

4.4.1 2009-2010 PRIORITIES

Priority: More Accessible, Affordable and Inclusive Child Care Options

Under the Early Learning and Child Care Plan, the Department of Community Services committed to developing a licensed child care system that is flexible, equitable and sustainable. In keeping with this commitment, in 2009-2010, the department will:

- enhance the Child Care Subsidy Program to enable more families to qualify for child care subsidy, ensure the eligibility process is transparent and efficient, and implement an income eligibility model that is defensible and solid
- create more new licensed child care spaces under the 2009-2010 release of the Child Care Expansion Loan Program
- develop and launch incentives to support the child care sector in the recruitment and retention of qualified child care educators
- streamline the child care grant programs and processes. The intent is to reduce both the department's and the sectors administrative burden and improve accountability while creating a more robust data source to support future decision making
- fully implement the revised Supported Child Care Grant to assist child care centres in the development and implementation of inclusive programs for children with special needs

Priority: Child Welfare Placement Redesign

In Nova Scotia, there are 25 licensed residential child caring facilities delivering residential services to children in care of the Minister. As part of the Child Welfare Redesign initiative, the department will implement service agreements with these residential providers and develop a new manual of standards for Boards of Directors who govern child welfare agencies. These are important steps towards the department's vision for child welfare - a single integrated service system, which is accessible and responsive to children and families across the province.

Priority: Develop Service Standards for Adult Residential Programs

The June 2008 Report of Residential Services identified some areas of inconsistency in residential care facilities across the province, such as:

- infrastructure maintenance
- the availability of social, vocational and recreational opportunities
- the home environment.

To address these inconsistencies, a set of standards will be developed in consultation with adult residential service providers.

Priority: Clarify Services for Persons with Disabilities Outcomes and Deliverables

In 2009-2010, the department will clarify the Services for Persons with Disabilities program outcomes and deliverables and implement the appropriate monitoring protocols and processes.

4.4.2 PERFORMANCE MEASURES

The following set of performance measures provide an indication of the number of children placed in a secure stable family environment, the progress made toward increasing the availability of affordable quality child care options for families, and progress made in achieving the goal of strengthening the residential supports system for persons with disabilities.
