5.2 Performance Management Policy

Policy Statement
The Province of Nova Scotia is committed to supporting employees to perform and grow in their current and future roles through effective performance management. A key element of performance management is the alignment of individual and team goals with department business planning to support government priorities. The performance management process, through employee planning and development reviews, empowers employees to succeed and achieve their potential within government and to be enablers of responsive and effective government.

Definitions

COACHING
An ongoing process whereby an employee who supervises others, guides or facilitates the continuous improvement of an employee’s performance. It includes the timely provision of constructive feedback, meaningful recognition, support for learning and development and assisting the employee with self-awareness and self-evaluation.

COMPETENCY
The skills, knowledge, and behaviours needed to perform a job.

GOALS/OBJECTIVES
The results an employee must achieve in the upcoming performance cycle. Goals/objectives should be aligned with their department and government priorities.

EMPLOYEE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT FORM
A document which details employee work, goals, and objectives established between an employee and manager/supervisor for the upcoming performance cycle. If applicable, employees will have competency goals.

EMPLOYEE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT REVIEW
The informal and formal meetings between an employee and manager/supervisor to discuss the achievement and status of performance goals.

MANAGER/SUPERVISOR
The person who plans and reviews the performance of an employee. This person directs the work of the employee on a daily and ongoing basis. This definition also includes senior management.
REVIEWING MANAGER/SUPERVISOR
The person who verifies the employee planning and development reviews done by other managers/supervisors for accuracy and consistency. This person is usually at a higher level in the organization’s structure.

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT
A process that links government priorities and department business plans to individual employee goals and ensures they are consistently being met in an effective and efficient manner.

Policy Objectives
- Support government priorities by aligning individual and team goals with departmental business plans;
- Provide a balanced approach to measure employee performance results and competencies;
- Encourage the development of employees through regular coaching, reviews, and dialogue; and
- Promote job satisfaction in a motivating environment and recognize good performance.

Application
This policy applies to all civil servants whose terms and conditions are set out in accordance with either the Civil Service Act and its regulations or the Civil Service Master Agreement between the Province of Nova Scotia and Nova Scotia Government and General Employees’ Union.

If there is a conflict between this policy and the provisions of the collective agreement, the collective agreement will take precedence.

Policy Directives
EMPLOYEE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT REVIEW
- Employee performance must be formally reviewed in relation to the employee’s goals/objectives and expected results.
- Each employee will have an employee planning and development review conducted annually, or on a change of position or appointment, or more frequently as required.
- Managers/supervisors are encouraged to have regular check-ins with employees throughout the performance cycle on their documented goals.
• An employee planning and development review must be documented using the Employee Planning and Development Form developed by the Public Service Commission (PSC). This form establishes goals jointly by the manager/supervisor and employee to provide a clear understanding of goals and expected results. Individual employee goals/objectives must be linked to department business plans and must include measurable goals/objectives. Employees must be given the opportunity in the formal review to discuss, comment, and sign the form according to this policy and applicable collective agreements.

• An Employee Planning and Development Form should also identify employee development activities that support achievement of an employee’s goals/objectives and identify opportunities for current or future professional development and career growth.

• Once the Employee Planning and Development Form is finalized, employees will be provided with a signed copy of the form. Managers/supervisors must file the original signed Employee Planning and Development Forms in the employee personnel record at the end of the performance cycle.

PROBATIONARY EMPLOYEES
• Probationary employees will have interim employee planning and development reviews conducted.

• Managers/supervisors should check the applicable regulations or collective agreement to confirm the length of the probationary period. In circumstances where the probationary period may be extended, the employee must be notified at least one month in advance of the expiry of the initial probationary period.

• Where unsatisfactory performance is identified concerning a probationary employee and reasonable steps are taken to give the probationary employee an opportunity to make the required improvements and this fails to address the performance issues, the employment of the probationary employee shall be terminated.

• Employees who satisfactorily complete the probationary period and are appointed on a permanent basis must be provided with ongoing employee planning and development reviews.

COACHING
• Managers/supervisors should provide employees with regular and ongoing feedback and coaching regarding job performance throughout the performance cycle.

• Managers/supervisors and employees must jointly keep track of the Employee Planning and Development Form and identify performance gaps and solutions in a timely fashion if necessary.
ACCESS TO EMPLOYEE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT REVIEWS

- Employee Planning and Development Forms are to be reviewed by the reviewing manager/supervisor who is responsible for preparing the review to ensure that reviews are comprehensive and consistently reflect goals/objectives established.
- Employee Planning and Development Forms are treated confidentially as per the Employee Personnel Record Policy.
- Managers/supervisors who wish to access their employee's Employee Planning and Development Form, which has been filed in the employee personnel record, must request access from their assigned human resources (HR) representative as per the Employee Personnel Record Guidelines.
- The Public Service Commissioner has the right to access Employee Planning and Development Forms from employee personnel records for the purposes of carrying out the responsibilities established pursuant to the Civil Service Act.

UNSATISFACTORY JOB PERFORMANCE

- A manager/supervisor is responsible for identifying and reviewing facts that are relevant to an employee's unsatisfactory job performance. All information collected must be properly documented. Unsatisfactory performance by employees must be addressed with the employee by the manager/supervisor in a timely fashion. Specific information concerning the areas of performance gaps and the improvements expected must be provided to the employee, which should include, where appropriate, a specific date by which improvement is expected to be achieved. The manager/supervisor should inform the employee of the availability of the Employee and Family Assistance Program (EFAP).
- If a manager/supervisor has a reasonable basis for believing that an employee is intentionally not meeting the performance requirements of the position, this may result in disciplinary action, up to, and including, termination. Manager/supervisors should consult with appropriate advisers, including their HR representative and Employee Relations Consultant, prior to considering disciplinary action.

Policy Guidelines

To assist employees in the planning and development process, the PSC has developed Guidelines for Completing the Employee Planning and Development Form. These are available on MyHR under My Performance.
